Emergency Management - Patrick Lonergan	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Patrick gave an overview on where the MPI Plan is in the revision process. There are two “sub” groups, one focusing on Pre-Hospital and the other focusing on health care facilities. The two groups are just starting to work on the process and will be meeting at the end of February. Once the two groups have worked on their focus areas, the group will come back together and merge them. Patrick explained that the DNRC has their final Feasibility Study back for an Early Warning System on Middle Creek Dam. The study essentially said that a system is beneficial. The county is working on several grant/funding possibilities to support this project. Patrick advised that the PrimalQuest Endurance Race will be held in Big Sky at the end of June. He advised there is a meeting with Public Safety agencies in the area to ensure everything is coordinated. During the same two weeks as the race, the Walley Byam group will be in Bozeman for their international get together. They are estimating around 5,000 people. So there is a potential for the medical system to become strained during this period. Patrick handed out a final draft of the sheltering plan annex of the Gallatin County EOP. He has been working with the Red Cross to get everything correct in it, and it should be pretty close. With the assistance of Northwestern Energy, the two Civil Defense Sirens were removed a couple weeks ago. It was quite a process to get everything disassembled and moved, and thanks to NWE.
Citizen Corps	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> No one present Patrick advised that a notice of some possible Citizen Corp funding this year did come through.
Unified Health Command	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Betty Kalakay advised that the UHC did not meet this month. She talked about the MPI and Surge Capacity Projects that UHC is working on and asked Pam Shrauger to elaborate on the Surge Capacity project. Pam is under contract by the Health Department to facilitate the Surge Capacity project. They are working on identifying what capability exists in the community including the hospital and other private health care facilities in the county. The goal is to identify what other facilities can care be provided at, to what level, and what supplies do they maintain. They will be conducting a survey in the near future to obtain this information. Pam also advised that there is a medical registry system that may tie into this, but they are waiting on the state to bring the system online.

Schools	•
Training & Exercise	• Patrick advised that he has been trying to provide this on the back of all the agendas to cover the upcoming meetings, trainings, etc...
Public Education	•
Volunteers Active in Disaster	• Norm Eggert advised that they have been having problems getting people together. They should be meeting in the next couple weeks.
Communications - Ben Hess	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • No one from 911 was present. • Jason Shrauger advised that the IMPD project is progressing, but slowly • Bryan Connelley advised that the fire council is close to adopting a new "Base 14" communications plan for two way radios. They have added two additional Gallatin County specific tactical channels. • Jason Shrauger also mentioned that the Health Care Facilities are working on a radio project to enhance their redundant communications capability.
